INTRODUCTION.

To the Class of 1882:

I have the honor to present to you my first report as your Secretary. In the preparation of it I have followed quite closely the reports of the last two years, making but one change of any importance. The first list of the class on pages 5, et seq. has formerly contained the names of those who were regular members of the class during Senior year. Formerly no list has been given of those who received degrees. In this report the first list is of those who received degrees. To this fact the double column entitled Class of 1882 in the statistics (probable occupation, etc.) is due. The first half of this column gives the statistics of those who were regular members of the class during the Senior year, the second the statistics of those who received degrees. Thus our class may be compared with preceding classes and also the statistics of our class, as composed of those who received degrees, may be examined. I imagine that eventually the statistics of graduating classes given by secretaries will be of those graduating, and with this idea in mind I have made the change. At any rate it seems to me that the report ought to contain a list of those who graduate.

For the errors I trust you will pardon me, remembering that in many cases the statistics here presented were obtained from men who from mere carelessness, totally ignored or for a long time neglected to answer my questions.

From the part entitled "Temporary Members" you will get an idea of what the triennial report will be, and I trust my requests for information will be more promptly granted than they have been. At any rate please keep me informed of your addresses, and if any of you can inform me of the addresses of those "not heard from," I shall be much obliged to you.

We shall entertain the graduating class next commencement at Holworthy, the room to be announced hereafter. Notices will be published in the Boston Advertiser, Post, and Transcript, and the more important ones in the New York Times.

With the best wishes for you all, I am

Your classmate,

ALFRED E. MILES.

MEASUREMENTS OF THE CLASS.

The measurements of the last three classes made by Dr. Sargent are much more accurate than those of the previous classes, and comparison would therefore be unfair.

It will be seen that our Fund is a large one, and we are particularly fortunate in receiving a large balance — over $600 — from the Class Day Committee. In comparing our Fund with that of other classes, this amount should not be counted, since we do not know how much other Secretaries have received or have paid out on the Class Day account. The balance $611.98 will be diminished about $150 for the printing of this report, and somewhat more by a few small bills which must be incurred before I get the Report distributed.

The $2. charged for expenses I have been obliged to estimate. Several circulars have referred to both funds and I believe $2. to be a fair estimate of the expenses incurred by me on account of the College Fund. I am sorry the Fund is so small and trust that you will subscribe more liberally through me, or will make up to the College by individual gifts what it has failed to receive from you as a class.

CLASS LIVES.

To write a sketch of his life is the only thing requiring any effort I have asked each one of you to do. And yet from a class of 181 members I have received only 61 lives. To obtain an autograph sketch of the life of each one of you, I deem the most important part of my duty that is now unfulfilled. It is not very difficult to keep track of you while you are in college, and you have so many associations at college, kept up by constant intercourse, that you are apt to fail to realize the pleasure you will feel in after years, when you learn of the success of your classmates. In order to be able to keep myself informed of the life of each of you, I want an account of what you did before I met you, and to obtain this I have distributed to you these blanks. Two-thirds of you have totally ignored my request. Not only to me are the lives indispensable, but they will be of great value in the preparation of the book on Harvard graduates. I hope and trust therefore that those of you who have not written your lives will do so at once and send them to my address.

CLASS SUPPERS.

Sophomore Year.

The Sophomore class supper took place at Young's Hotel, Boston, on the evening of March 10, 1880. The officers of the occasion were: —

President	W. H. Manning.
Orator	I. N. Panin.
Poet	J. M. Foster.
Chorister	E. H. Pendleton.
Toast-Master	C. J. Edgerly.
Musical Committee	Owen Wister. F. R. Burton. E. H. Pendleton.
Committee on Arrangements	F. M. Stone. Guy Waring. J. H. Storer.

About 80 men were present. The usual toasts were given and Mr. Sewall spoke for the Advocate, Mr. Fuller for the Crimson, Mr. Kane for the ladies, and the Captains of the different class athletic organizations were heard from as the Class Crew, Nine and Eleven were toasted.

Junior Year.

A class supper known as the "dollar supper" was held at the Revere House on the evening of May 16, 1881. The committee of arrangements nominally consisted of ten, but practically the committee consisted of Messrs. Buell, Blodgett, and W. G. Chase. Mr. George L. Kittredge served as toastmaster, and Mr. W. H.

Manning presided. The dinner was well attended and was a peculiarly pleasant one, for two days before, our crew had won the Class Races, and our University Nine had defeated Yale at Cambridge. Few class suppers have been held at times so favorable, and "the dollar supper" will be remembered for a long while by those who attended.

Senior Year.

The Senior class supper was held at Parker's on the evening of June 27th, 1882. 122 men were present, among them some who long ago left college, but came back to join in this, our last undergraduate supper.

Mr. George L. Kittredge served as toastmaster, and Mr. W. H. Manning presided. The arrangements were made by the Class Committee, and the Chorister of the Class, Mr. F. R. Burton, led the singing.

A pleasant feature of the supper was the kindness of the class of 1869, which was dining in a neighboring room, and sent its compliments to us with a bottle of excellent wine. After we had sent our thanks with a "magnum," the class of 1869 came to offer their congratulations in a body with a "maximum," and the drinking of each others health by the alumni of thirteen years' and the graduating class, was a pleasant spectacle not often witnessed at a class supper.

CLASS CRADLE.

All who received degrees with 1882 are eligible for the class cradle. As soon any one of you presents a claim, it will be duly examined by the Secretary and Class Committee, and the happy father who presents the first just claim will receive for his fortunate child the cradle and well wishes of the Class of 1882.

In June, 1877, he graduated from the Newton High School, and in September, 1878, joined our class. His life in college was exemplary, and he was not only a general favorite but he won the respect and esteem of those who did not know him personally. To his strict adherence to the right is to be added marked ability, for he attained high rank in his studies and was early elected a member of the board of Editors of the Advocate. Few men have been in college for whom one could predict a more successful life than one could for him; and his early death was the cause of great sorrow on the part of his many friends and of sincere regret on the part of those who respected him although unacquainted with him.

January 30, 1880, he died after a short but painful illness, at his home in Newton, but the class will always feel that in him, it lost one of its soundest and most able members.
